Examination of Application #10/536,760

1. Claims 15-30 of application 10/536,760, filed on 26-May-2005, are presented for examination. Claims 1-14 were canceled by the Preliminary Amendment received 26-May-2005.

Claim Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 2nd Paragraph

2. Claims 15 and 27-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In regard to claims 15 and 27, the phrase "using an amended measurement park" may be construed to refer to an alternative measurement park, different from the measurement park used in the preceding steps of the method for designing a technical system, thereby rendering the claims vague and indefinite.

In regard to claims 27-30, these claims are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims cite "A device for analyzing a technical system", but then cite steps for accomplishing a method for analyzing a technical system. (See the mixed statute rejection below in section 3.3)

Claim Rejections under 35 U.S.C. § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefore, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

In re Application of: Altpeter et al.

3.1 Claims 15-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The invention claims a method for designing a technical system, including state variables and diagnostic variables that depend on the state variables.

3.2 This claimed subject matter lacks a practical application of a judicial exception (law of nature, abstract idea, naturally occurring article/phenomenon) since it fails to produce a useful, concrete and tangible result.

Specifically, the claimed subject matter does not produce a tangible result because the claimed subject matter fails to produce a result that is limited to having real world value rather than a result that may be interpreted to be abstract in nature as, for example, a thought, a computation, or manipulated data. More specifically, the claimed subject matter provides for using an amended measurement park in designing the technical system. This produced result remains in the abstract and, thus, fails to achieve the required status of having real world value, because the possibility exists that an alternative measurement park may be used, leaving the present method for designing a technical system to be merely a conversion of one set of numbers into another set of numbers, whereby the method does not manipulate appropriate subject matter, and thus cannot constitute a statutory process (MPEP Section 2106.02).

3.3 Claims 27-30 are further rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to two different statutory classes of invention. (See the explanation in section 2 above.)

Allowed Claims

4. Claims 15-30 are deemed allowable over the prior art of record at this time, pending resolution of any rejections noted above, because the prior art does not specifically teach the claimed device for analyzing a technical system.
